FOREWORD

I am happy to present the 8th issue of the ANRPC Monthly Bulletin of Rubber Statistics. Contents in this issue are limited to statistical data alone, rather providing a description of the trends and causes, as usually provided. This is because this small Secretariat is preoccupied with the preparations for the 32nd Session of the ANRPC Assembly, 37th Meeting of the Executive Committee and the meeting of two technical committees apart from Annual Rubber Conference 2009, to be held during 2-7 November 2009 in Ho Chi Minh City.

I take this opportunity to extend ANRPC's gratitude to Mr. Wimal Rubasingha, Director-General of Sri Lanka's Rubber Development Department, who got transferred to another Ministry. The Association received immense support from Mr. Wimal in his capacity as the statistical correspondent for Sri Lanka. I would like to congratulate Mr. R. B. Premadasa who has just been appointed as the Director-General.

Before I conclude, I would like to acknowledge the valuable support and cooperation received from all Member Governments in publishing this issue of the Bulletin. I look forward to seeing many of you in Ho Chi Minh City.

Prof. Dr. Djoko Said Damardjati
Secretary General

FALL IN NATURAL RUBBER SUPPLY ACCELERATES 5.1%

REVIEW UP TO SEPTEMBER 2009

Data of the global production of the natural rubber (NR) available up to September 2009 reveal that the falling trend in global supply accelerated. Total output in the seven countries accounting 93% of the global supply fell 5.1% in the 12 months to September 2009 as compared to the year ended December 2008. The output fall in the 12 months to August 2009 was 3.7% only.

The following table gives a consolidated picture of change in production in each country during this year from the same period in the previous year:

Change in Production in 2009 from 2008

	Thousand tonnes	% change
Thailand (January-August)	- 171	- 8.3 %
Indonesia (January- July)	- 106	- 6.3%
Malaysia (January-September)	- 207	- 23.6 %
India (January-September)	- 65	- 10.8 %
Vietnam (January-September)	- 13	- 3.4 %
China (January-September)	+ 99	+ 28.5 %
Sri Lanka (January-September)	0	0.0 %

Trends in production in each country from 2005 to 2009 are summarised in the table below:

Trends in Production of NR (Thousand tonnes)

EXPORT OF NR

Changes in export of NR during 2009 from the same period in the previous year are summarised in the table below:

Change in Export in 2009 from 2008

	Thousand tonnes	% change
Thailand (January-August)	- 159	- 8.7%
Indonesia (January-July)	- 277	- 19.3 %
Malaysia (January-September)	- 255	- 33.7%
Vietnam (January-September)	+ 25	+ 5.9%
India (January-September)	- 60	- 90.3%
Singapore (January-June)	- 20	- 26.1%
Sri Lanka (January-September)	+ 9	+ 25.4%

Note: Exports from China are negligible.

AVERAGE YIELD

Average yield, measured in terms of annual production per hectare of tapped area in ANRPC Member countries, for the period from 2003 to 2009 are given in the table below:

Average Annual Yield (Kg/ha)

⁽¹⁾Provisional.

⁽²⁾ Anticipated for 2009 (January to December).

⁽³⁾ Not available with the government.

⁽⁴⁾ Rubber forests in Sabah and Sarawak States are not accounted.

Note: Given above are the yield data as reported by respective governments. They need not agree with the estimates computed by dividing production by tapped area, because some countries do not account their entire tapped area in estimating the yield.

Beyond the Crisis: Emerging Asia and Opportunities for Natural Rubber

NEW WORLD HOTEL SAIGON
Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam

TRENDS IN CRUDE PETROLEUM OIL PRICES

West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude petroleum oil prices averaged at 69.41 US dollar per barrel in September 2009. Sustained economic growth in China and signs of a turnaround in other Asian countries helped the prices to rise to 70.80 US dollar per barrel in the week ended 10 October and to 75.73 US dollar per barrel in the week ended 17 October. On October 20, the WTI oil price touched 78.87 US dollar per barrel.

In spite of an optimistic global economic outlook, the Energy Information Administration (EIA) of the US Government did not revise its price projections upward because ample oil supplies remain on the market. Oil inventories remain high and EIA expects oil production by the OPEC to increase as well. In its short-term outlook released on October 6, EIA expects the price of WTI crude oil to average about 70 US dollar per barrel during this winter from October 2009-March 2010, a 19 US dollar increase over last winter. WTI prices are anticipated to average at 75 US dollar per barrel in December 2010 as the US and world economic conditions improve.

Average prices of WTI crude petroleum oil are given in the table below.
